At present, physical injuries are a major concern in healthcare. However, in addition to physical injuries, medical accidents and errors are often associated with psychological injuries among patients, the family members, and related medical personnel.

According to WHO, health consists of three components: physical wellbeing, mental wellbeing, and social wellbeing. Therefore, true healthcare safety activities should target physical wellbeing, mental wellbeing, and social wellbeing.

“Wellbeing With Healthcare Safety” is now the main theme of the 12th World Congress on Clinical Safety (<http://www.iarmm.org/12WCCS/>) held in Paris in May 2015.
